

30 Days Wild by Eddie Barnes

It was boiling, boiling hot all weekend. On Saturday, mum had to go to London, so dad and I did lots of things.

First we took Molly out for a nice graze on the long grass in the shade. Then we groomed Nora and took her for a walk up the lane. She was a good pony.

The horses really don't like the flies, so we put them in the stable in the cool and they seem happier like that.

We had supper on the marsh.

I saw lots of birds on the marsh, especially lots of swallows.

It was a really really HOT day. I really liked that.

On Sunday we had to help the horses because they were hot. Mum and I gave Nora a wash. It was a boiling hot day, so I think Nora liked it.

She looked really pretty when we had finished, and the flies stopped being so annoying to her.

When she got in the field, she rolled in all the dust, so she's not really clean any more!

Maybe she was trying to get rid of more flies!

Later on Dad made a curry feast, so we ate our food outside in the evening sun. I like eating outside best, so I would like it to be hot weather all the time.
